Oversubscription Totals
$749,908,300, or 16.66
Per Cent.

The total subscription of the Victory loan was $5,248,908,300, an excess of $749,908,300, or 16.66 per cent over the prescribed quota of $4,500,000,000, according to final official figures tabulated at the Treasury yesterday.

All districts except Atlanta and Dallas oversubscribed their quotas.

These two failed even to make their quotas.

The number of subscribers was estimated at 12,000,000. Nearly 60 per cent of the loan was taken by those whose subscriptions were less than $10.00.

The oversubscription in the New York district was 20.57 per cent, and in the Chicago district 18.32 per cent.

The Treasury tabulation by districts is as follows:

District	Sub- scriptions	Sub- scriptions

Since the Treasury announced at the beginning of the loan that only $4,500,000,000 notes would be issued, parts of some of the oversubscription will have to be rejected.

ARMY WILL HELP YANKS GET JOBS

March Orders Men to Fill
Out Questionnaires
Enroute Home.

From now on, the moment a home coming transport leaves the other side, the liner will become "a floating employment bureau."

Gen. Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff of the army, yesterday cabled orders that every soldier on the way home will fill out cards showing his capability for holding jobs.

When the transport docks these cards will be rushed to the United States Employment Service, which will exert every influence toward finding work for the soldiers before they are mustered out of service.

To make the cards as comprehensive as possible, detailed instructions have been sent personnel adjutants on the transports to help the man answer the questions in such a way as to reveal to prospective employers his capabilities.

Col. Arthur Woods, assistant to the Secretary of War, brings out the following points to officers on transports:

1. Each soldier on the transport should be talked to—preferably in private, to ascertain his desires in line of employment.

2. There must be impressed upon the men their rights, imperfectly understood by many.

3. Among these is the right to remain in the service, at present pay and allowance, until they secure work.

JULY 4 PLANS WELL UNDERWAY

Vice-President Lends His Aid—Twenty Nations
To Participate.

Vice President Marshall and Speaker F. H. Gillett gave their approval yesterday to the use of the National Capitol and the Capitol grounds for holding the major part of the Independence Day festival this year.

The entire plaza in front of the building was placed at the disposal of the committee and will be utilized in giving the spectacles and tableaux that will constitute the last section of the festival activities.

Elaborate plans are being made for reviewing the parade from this vantage point.

More than twenty foreign governments will be represented by floats in the parade. Messages were received yesterday from all the diplomatic representatives in Washington with the exception of three or four, making known their intention to participate in the parade. Those who have not yet indicated their intentions in the matter are understood to be waiting on advice from their home governments before making known their decision.

The participation of so large a number of foreign countries in the parade gives assurance to the festival committees that the event will be one of the most imposing and spectacular that has been held in any American city on Independence Day.

Would Change Complex Name.

Because her name is difficult to spell and pronounce and she is sometimes confused with other people, Ida B. Higley asked the District Supreme Court yesterday to allow her to change her name to Ida B. Higley, a name more easy to spell.

JAIL SENTENCE FOR HOTEL MAN

Ben Schwartz Given Six Months and $500 Fine on Bootlegging Charge.

Ben Schwartz, formerly in business at 932 F street northwest as a tailor, but lately proprietor of the Commercial Hotel at the same address, was sent to jail for six months and fined $500 yesterday by Judge Hardison in Police Court for "bootlegging" whisky to the guests of the hotel.

Schwartz was arrested two weeks ago by Lieut. J. W. Pierson, who charged him with buying whisky at a quart and selling it to his guests at from $7 to $10 a quart.

The hotel proprietor denied the charge. He stated that he merely accommodated a few of his guests and let them have the whisky at the same price he paid for it.

Judge Hardison refused to believe Schwartz and declined to submit his case to the probation officer. The court allowed the convicted man until tomorrow to straighten up his affairs before beginning to serve out his sentence.

Disabled Soldiers Trained as Clerks

More than 1,200 disabled soldiers are being trained in bookkeeping, clerical work, stenography and telegraphy, the Federal Board for Vocational Education announced yesterday.

Many of the men can secure positions after a short training and become self-supporting.

The board follows the policy of using existing schools wherever possible instead of establishing new schools as it is authorized to do by Congress.
